

NRAS FACT SHEET: 1

Release Date: 1 March 2018

Incentive Payments

The NRAS Year is offset from the financial year by two months and runs from 1st of May to 30th April each year. The Federal Government contributes 75% of the National Rental Incentive (NRI) for NRAS each year, with the other 25% being contributed by the State and Territory Governments.

The NRI is indexed annually to the CPI and is $11,114.33 for the 2018 NRAS Year and $11,192.13 for the 2019 NRAS Year.

Federal Government Incentive Payment

The Federal Government's portion is claimed as a Refundable Tax Offset (RTO) on your income tax return and is paid directly to you by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Quantum will issue you with an annual statement and letter of advice showing the amount claimable and the section on your income tax return where the RTO amount is recorded.

State Government Incentive Payment

The State Government portion is paid to Quantum by the State Government for distribution by Quantum to the property owners. The State Government makes the distribution to Quantum each year and the payment to the property owner usually occurs within four working days of the receipt by Quantum of the payment from the State Government.

Pro-rata Payments

Incentive will be paid on a pro-rata basis where:

- The property has not been active for the entire year (ie. it only became available to rent partway through the year)
- The property did not meet compliance requirements for some of the year (eg. it was rented at an ineligible rent or to an ineligible tenant)
- The property was vacant for in excess of 91 days cumulatively throughout the year or consecutively over two consecutive NRAS years (ie. incentive is reduced on a pro-rata basis for any vacancies over 91 days)
- The property was unavailable for rent for a period during the year (eg. if repairs or maintenance was required before a property could be re-let)
